

Suggestions for Teaching the Spanish Songs

If you use the songs in a computer lab and want the children to sing the songs as a group, there are two ways that worked for me;

If the group is small enough, you can seat the children in front of one computer and have them view the page as the song plays and the teacher leads the song.

If the students are at separate computers, tell them to not put on their headphones and then the teacher plays the song audibly on one computer while the students scroll the page on their own computer and sing along with the teacher.

Introduce the picture words before you start the song and have them say the words aloud.

Use the four measures between verses to tell the children what is coming up in the next verse.
