Art Appreciation/Lessons For Kids

Teachers and parents, I have tried to make these art lessons as child-friendly as possible. Some art objects are not appropriate for children and I have avoided showing nude pictures and putting links to them. Also some themes are macabre and disturbing. These too have been omitted.

This summer's update to the art pages includes online tests which are computer graded.

If you have suggestions or ideas for ways to teach your students art appreciation, I would like to have your input. I welcome your ideas and will post them with your permission.
